

Introduction and Acceptance of Terms

These Marketplace Terms of Use govern the access to, participation in, and use of the Marketplace platform operated by the Company and establish the legal rights, responsibilities, obligations, and expectations applicable to all users, customers, buyers, sellers, partners, affiliates, service providers, and other authorized participants who access or utilize the Marketplace for the purpose of discovering, evaluating, purchasing, subscribing to, licensing, or otherwise engaging with products and services made available through the platform. By creating an account, accessing Marketplace functionality, browsing listings, submitting inquiries, placing orders, participating in promotional activities, or otherwise interacting with the Marketplace in any manner, the user acknowledges that they have read, understood, and agreed to be bound by these Terms of Use and any additional policies, guidelines, procedures, notices, or requirements that may be published by the Company from time to time.

The Marketplace is intended to provide a secure and efficient environment through which buyers and sellers may interact for legitimate business purposes, and the Company reserves the right to implement technical, operational, procedural, and commercial measures necessary to maintain the reliability, integrity, performance, security, and compliance of the platform. Users are responsible for ensuring that their use of the Marketplace complies with all applicable local, regional, national, and international laws and regulations and that all information submitted through the platform is accurate, current, complete, and not misleading in any manner.

User Registration and Account Management

In order to access certain Marketplace features and functionality, users may be required to create and maintain an account by providing complete and accurate registration information, including business details, contact information, billing addresses, payment credentials, tax-related information, and any additional documentation reasonably requested by the Company for verification, compliance, fraud prevention, security monitoring, or operational purposes. Users represent and warrant that all information provided during the registration process is truthful and accurate and agree to promptly update such information whenever changes occur that could affect the validity, completeness, or accuracy of their account records.

Users are solely responsible for protecting the confidentiality and security of their account credentials, passwords, authentication methods, and access permissions and agree to take all reasonable precautions necessary to prevent unauthorized access, misuse, disclosure, or compromise of their accounts. Any actions performed through a registered account shall be deemed to have been authorized by the account holder unless the user can demonstrate otherwise through sufficient evidence, and the Company shall not be responsible for losses resulting from a user's failure to maintain appropriate account security practices or to promptly notify the Company regarding suspected unauthorized activity.

Product Listings and Marketplace Content

The Marketplace may contain product descriptions, service offerings, pricing information, technical specifications, marketing content, availability notices, images, documentation, customer reviews, ratings, recommendations, promotional materials, and other content submitted either by the Company or by authorized sellers participating in the Marketplace ecosystem. While reasonable efforts are undertaken to promote the accuracy and reliability of Marketplace content, the Company does not guarantee that all information displayed on the platform will be complete, current, error-free, or suitable for every intended purpose and reserves the right to modify, update, correct, suspend, or remove content at any time without prior notice.

Sellers are responsible for ensuring that all listings accurately describe the products and services being offered and that such listings comply with applicable laws, industry standards, intellectual property requirements, advertising regulations, consumer protection requirements, and Marketplace policies. Listings containing false claims, misleading statements, prohibited products, unauthorized intellectual property, discriminatory content, unlawful materials, fraudulent representations, malicious code, or any information that could reasonably mislead or harm users may be removed immediately, and the responsible seller may be subject to account restrictions, suspension, or permanent removal from the Marketplace.

Orders, Transactions, and Payments

When a buyer submits an order through the Marketplace, such order constitutes an offer to purchase the identified products or services subject to the terms, conditions, pricing, availability, and restrictions specified in the applicable listing. Acceptance of an order occurs only upon confirmation by the seller or fulfillment of the applicable order according to Marketplace procedures, and the Company reserves the right to reject, cancel, or suspend transactions where fraud, pricing errors, legal concerns, security risks, inventory discrepancies, regulatory restrictions, payment issues, or other circumstances could adversely affect the integrity or lawful operation of the Marketplace.

All payments processed through the Marketplace must be completed using approved payment methods and shall be subject to applicable taxes, duties, fees, service charges, transaction costs, currency conversion charges, governmental assessments, and other amounts required under applicable law or Marketplace policies. Buyers authorize the processing of payment information necessary to complete transactions, and sellers acknowledge that payment distributions may be subject to verification procedures, compliance reviews, fraud prevention controls, dispute investigations, refund processing activities, chargeback evaluations, and other operational safeguards implemented by the Company to protect the interests of Marketplace participants and maintain a secure transaction environment.

Intellectual Property and Confidential Information

All software, systems, processes, interfaces, trademarks, trade names, service marks, copyrights, logos, designs, content, documentation, and other intellectual property associated with the Marketplace remain the exclusive property of the Company or its licensors and are protected by applicable intellectual property laws and international agreements. Users are granted only a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, and revocable right to access and use the Marketplace for legitimate business purposes in accordance with these Terms, and nothing contained within the platform shall be interpreted as conveying ownership, license rights, or proprietary interests beyond those expressly granted herein.

Users agree not to copy, reproduce, distribute, modify, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, publish, exploit, transmit, create derivative works from, or otherwise misuse any proprietary component of the Marketplace without prior written authorization from the Company. Furthermore, any confidential information exchanged during the course of Marketplace activities, including commercial data, pricing arrangements, customer information, technical materials, strategic plans, operational processes, and business communications, shall be protected using commercially reasonable safeguards and shall not be disclosed to unauthorized parties except where required by law or expressly permitted by the disclosing party.

Suspension, Termination, and Limitation of Liability

The Company reserves the right, at its sole discretion and without prejudice to any other available remedies, to suspend, restrict, investigate, or terminate user access to the Marketplace where there is evidence of fraud, security violations, misuse of platform resources, repeated policy breaches, unlawful conduct, payment disputes, intellectual property infringement, submission of misleading information, abusive behavior, attempts to circumvent Marketplace controls, or any activity that may negatively impact the security, reputation, stability, compliance posture, or operational effectiveness of the Marketplace ecosystem. Such actions may be implemented immediately where necessary to protect users, business operations, regulatory obligations, or public interests.

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the Company shall not be liable for any indirect, incidental, special, consequential, punitive, exemplary, or business interruption damages arising from or related to the use of the Marketplace, including loss of revenue, loss of data, loss of goodwill, loss of business opportunities, procurement delays, supplier performance issues, transaction failures, system outages, cybersecurity incidents, or third-party conduct. In all circumstances, the aggregate liability of the Company for claims arising under these Terms of Use shall not exceed the total amount of fees paid to the Company by the affected user during the twelve-month period immediately preceding the event giving rise to the claim, regardless of the form of action or theory of liability asserted.
